The Crossword Challenge

Thank you for taking part in The Crossword Challenge and raising money for Great Ormond Street Hospital Children's Charity.

Why we need your help

Great Ormond Street Hospital is an amazing place that treats thousands of children every year. Our patients come from all over the UK and abroad, and lots of them are the same age as you and your friends.

The money you raise will help us to make the hospital the best it can be. It could help us to build bigger wards where children will have more space to play and get better. The money could also be used to buy life-saving equipment or help our research teams to find better treatments for our patients.

My name is Dr Shah and I work at Great Ormond Street Hospital. I have to know lots about the human body so I can look after my patients. How much do you know about the body?

What to do

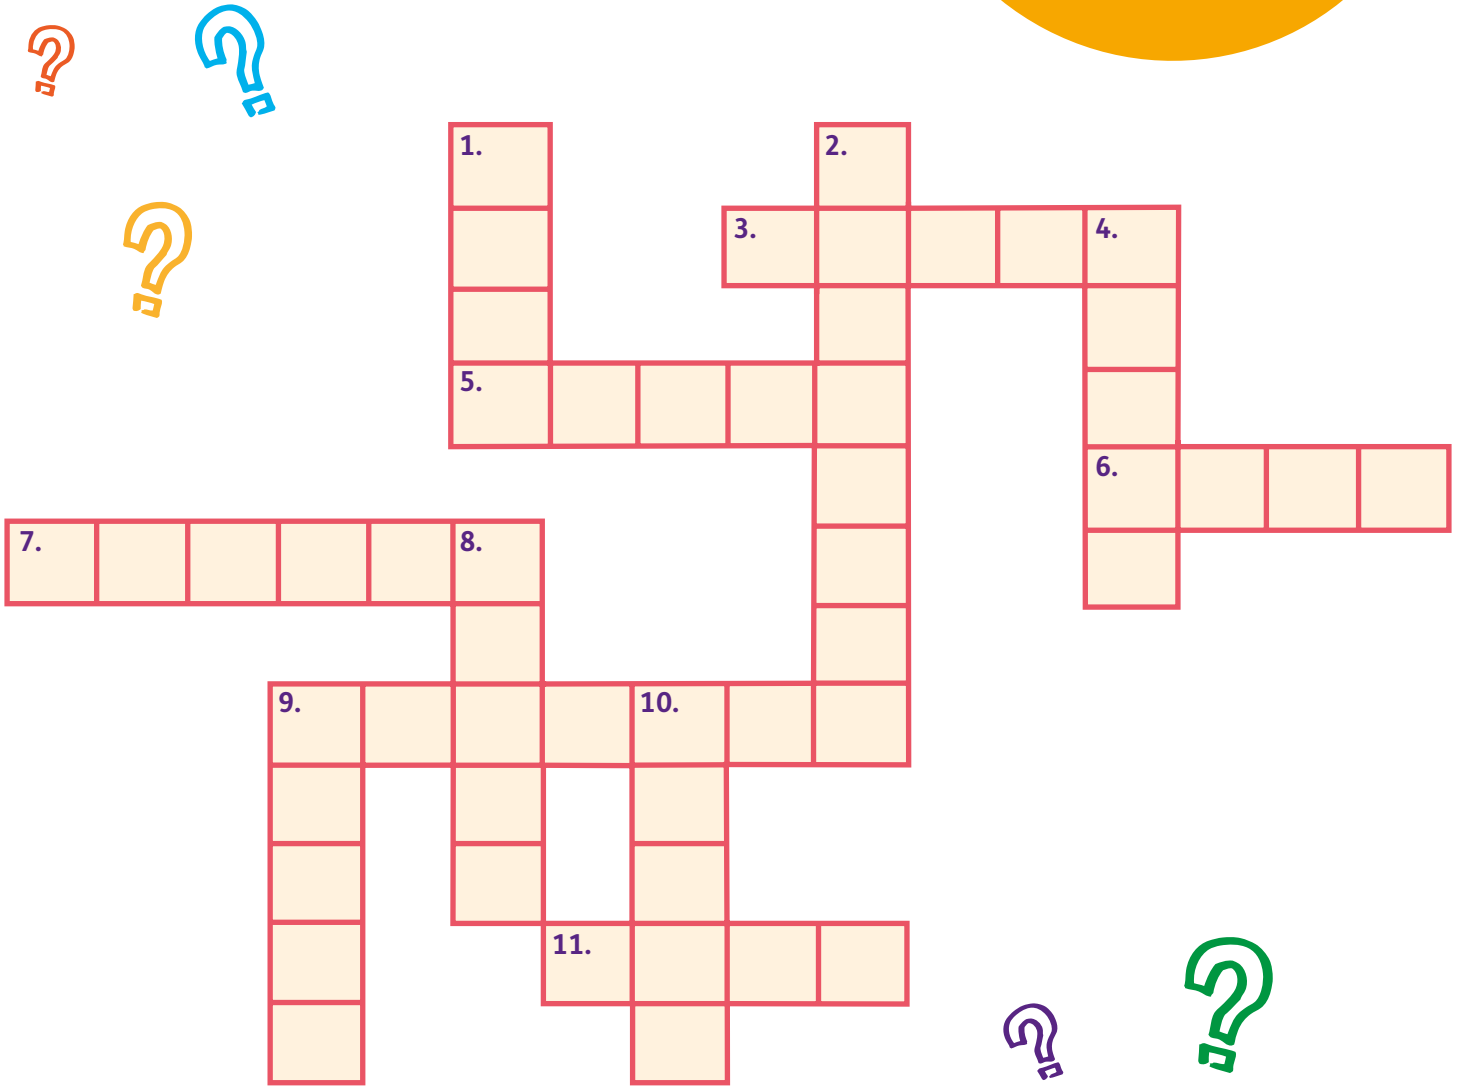

1. With your family's permission, ask your friends and family to sponsor you to take part in the challenge. You can make a donation online (if your school has set up an online fundraising page) or fill in your sponsor form. Remember not to talk to strangers.
2. When you've finished the challenge, go back to your sponsors and collect the money (or ask them to make an online donation).
3. Take the money you've collected into school and give it to your teacher.

Good luck with the challenge!
