Book dating!

Speed-dating with a difference – speed-dating with books! Pupils and young people spend one minute each with a selection of new books in the library. At the end of the session, they decide which one they would most like to date/read, and discuss with a fellow book dater!

Books into films

Choose a selection of books and ask pupils and young people to imagine they are being made into films. Ask them to design a film-style poster to advertise one of the books. They could base this on Peter Pan, Peter Pan in Scarlet, or on a book of their choice. Encourage them to come up with straplines and to combine images and text.

Pirate lingo fer yer lads and lassies!

Come on, ye lily-livered landlubbers, morph into a pirate for a day! Use the below links to create a dictionary of pirate lingo, and talk like a pirate for the day:

Neverland treasure trail

Create your own Neverland treasure trail in the playground, around your school, or local community, and encourage your pupils to hone their map-reading and orienteering skills. Cross Grief Reef and the Maze of Witches, until you scale the height of the Neverpeak Mountain....
